Hungry Eagle
No Better Than the Duck-Hunter

Wilbur Williams of McNab and his bald eagle got a big play in the Associated Press over the week-end.

The reason for the public's interest in eagles is obvious. In the first place, the eagle is our national bird. The dollar may be devalued, but its emblem isn't undervalued. Mr. Webster says eagles are noted for their strength, size, graceful figure, keenness of vision, and powers of flight.

It was conjectured by some that the bald eagle not being common here this particular specimen happened along while following ducks. But such a theory makes sense, for even the razor-sharp vision of a hungry eagle couldn't pick out ducks where there are none — and I have it on the authority of my duck-hunting friends that the current supply is just one notch above zero.

It could be the weather. And — perish the thought — it could be that this one lone hungry eagle is the only one of its kind in the South going from wherever he came to wherever it was he had his ticket punched for.

Wilbur Williams, the McNab eagle-keeper, shed important light on this theory when he reported that his eagle ate two chickens the first day in captivity. You can view this information two ways. Either the eagle ate up all the ducks and was hunting chickens at the time he followed duck-hunters to cry on our original contention, there weren't enough ducks in the first place and the eagle was merely seeking human company, but the fellow duck-hunter's shoulder.

Of course most of this discourse about eagles catching ducks is so much horse-radish. It could be, but I've never heard that it's true. Eagles are fast — but so are ducks.

Eagles are prodigious eaters, however. Years ago I went through the bird house at New York's famous Bronx Zoo — and the piles of meat in front of the condors and eagles were something to write home about.

Two chickens a day — that's nothing to squawk about when you're hearing an eagle. That is, if you want to hear an eagle. Wilbur Williams doesn't.

He's still advertising for a zoo-man to come and get this air pirate and let his chickens be.

Youth Denies Slashing Girl's Throat

Newport News, Va., Nov. 28 — (UP)—Twenty-year-old Jesse Wilmer Worley denied repeatedly today that he cut the throat of a girl named H. Summs, a note which the bleeding girl scrawled at the hospital saying: "Bill Worley did it."

A girl, a striking, red-haired high school senior, was rescued from a condition today. A tube inserted into her throat enables her to breathe despite a severed windpipe.

She has been unable to speak a word since Friday night, when she slashed her own throat with a razor. She was rescued from the porch of a neighbor and rapped frantically on his door following the attack. Her throat was slashed from ear to ear.

The hospital staff scrawled several notes. One read: "Bill Worley did it." Police Chief LeRoy Woodley said Miss Summs wrote other notes about the attack, implicating Worley, but the chief did not reveal the exact contents of the notes.

Yesterday Woodley and Warlick County Sheriff R. B. Curtis questioned Worley at length at the jail at nearby Danville. They met with repeated denials from Worley that he knew anything about the attack. "If there is any motive in this case," Curtis said, "I don't find it."

Woodley said Worley has a juvenile record for petty larceny and was discharged from the army 18 months ago as "undesirable" due to the record.

Robert McCord Takes Palmer Photo Trophy

Little Rock, Nov. 28 — (AP)—Robert McCord of Little Rock is the winner of the C. E. Palmer trophy, the top award in the annual Arkansas Associated Press newsphoto contest.

McCord, a student at the University of Arkansas who spends his vacations working for the Arkansas Democrat, won the trophy with his picture of President Truman marching with his buddies in the 53rd division parade here last June.

The other awards were divided between four photographers: Owen Wiggins and Larry Oshinski of the Arkansas Gazette and Ed Puska of the Northwest Arkansas Times, Fayetteville.

Consul Ward's Aide Released Also By Reds

Washington, Nov. 28 — (AP)—A new communist deportation order from an American group in China raised state department hopes today that Consul General Angus Ward and his entire staff may soon start home from Mukden.

Ward and four of his aides were ordered deported last week after a Chinese communist "people's court" found them guilty of beating a Chinese employee.

A second deportation order — covering the other ten members of the consulate staff — was announced yesterday. It came at the end of a trial in which ten Asiatics were convicted on charges of being American spies.

Ward and his staff also brought release of Ward's chief aide, Vice Consul William N. Stokes, who was seized by communist police Saturday morning. The state department said that Stokes had been forced to "observe" the trial for seven hours. The department had feared he might be imprisoned.

The deportation order against the entire staff followed by less than a week the conviction of Ward and four aides. The state department had said that charges against the five were "trumped up." It had appealed to 50 nations to intervene with the communists in their behalf after direct demands to communist leaders to release them were ignored.

Work Starts to 'Breed' Precious Atom Materials

Washington, Nov. 28 — (AP)—The atomic energy commission (AEC) announced today it is beginning construction immediately on an experimental device with which it will try to "breed" precious atomic materials.

If this try succeeds, atomic development for both war and peace would be greatly stimulated. The commission did not state this in its announcement, but it was implicit.

The AEC did tell a little of its plans to speed work on harnessing atomic energy for industrial power and for propelling ships. And aircraft.

"Breeding" would mean greatly expanded resources of atomic materials for use in bombs or as fuels in established or proposed peace-time applications of atomic energy.

It would mean that in the process of making atomic energy, the non-fissionable kind that is 140 times more plentiful in nature than scarce uranium-235, the "fissionable" kind.

It would also mean that full use could be made of the non-fissionable kind, which is even more plentiful than U-238.

A "fissionable material" is one whose atoms can be "split," releasing atomic energy.

The commission said it expected to complete by the end of next year, construction of a device called "an experimental breeder reactor."

This means a "furnace" designed to create more atomic fuel than is actually consumed in keeping the atomic fire burning.

The objective is to create as much of the little good coal in your home furnace, together with a lot of coal that would not ordinarily burn and then winding up with more good coal than you started with in the first place.

The commission has made no secret of the fact that it would like to perfect a "breeding" process.

It has repeatedly said that the process is "theoretically possible" and previously announced plans to construct an experimental "breeder" to test out the concept to see if it is feasible.

But today's announcement was the first sign of actual construction.

Bitter Civil Rights Battle Shaping Up

Washington, Nov. 28 — (UP)—A new and more bitter fight over civil rights is boiling up in this country under management of the left wing elements which shaped the Democratic platform.

They have set up a national campaign backed by 30 labor and other organizations to whom up civil rights in local and state meetings. This activity is aimed at congressmen now on their home grounds during the legislative recess. The idea is to impress them in their own constituencies that active and politically potent minority group want action on civil rights legislation at the next session of congress.

The communists, characteristically, are grabbing at the tail gate of the civil right band wagon in an effort to warm up their doubtful prestige among American Negroes.

The communists have elaborated on the plans of non-communists for a civil rights rally. The communist contribution is a plan for a "mass civil rights mobilization" in Washington on Jan. 15, 1950.

There is a scattering of states and cities from coast to coast outside the South where Americans for Democratic action is a powerful political force. It is composed of labor leaders, socialists, new dealers, restless independents and, in general, covers the left wing field up to, but not including, the communists.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Franklin D. Roosevelt are among the high command. As such CIO leaders as Walter Reuther, and Allan S. Haywood, the AFL, is represented by David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

ADL is led by Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), the gambler, freshman to appear in the senate since the late Huey P. Long.

All of these and many others are skilled politicians and not to be laughed off as partners in a political power game. They plan to take over the Democratic party outside the South. At the moment, they have their eyes on New Jersey as a good spot to attempt a seizure.

The Nashville Production Credit Association will hold its Sixteenth Annual Stockholders' meeting in Nashville in the Howard County Court House Wednesday, November 30, at 10 a.m. Barney Smith, president of the association stated that the association is planning to hold a "Future Outlook of Agriculture" in the Sixth District.

According to Secretary-Treasurer Howard Sharp, the Nashville Association has enjoyed a successful year, having made 478 loans for $683. The Association is rendering agricultural cooperative credit to Howard, Pike, and Hot Springs counties.

Duffie Booth, representative for the Nashville Association in Hempstead county will have charge of transportation for the annual meeting.

The CAMEO
By Virginia Teale Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The Story: Hagar Blair is in jail charged with murder in which a valuable cameo seems to be a vital clue. Hagar has no alibi for the time of the deaths of either Martin Falter, blackmailer, or Ned O'Neil, sometime one of the cameos, Hagar's assistant, Stephanie Smith, Nell's niece meanwhile receives a visit from Andrew Yakov who says he has letters that will clear Hagar. If Stephanie will let him examine the cameo.

Stephanie lowered her eyes. When she looked up, she asked: "Would you allow me to see the cameo while you looked at the locket? And will you give me the letters first?"

Yakov smiled wryly. "I will meet your conditions. I suppose you will have Mr. Reddy of the police department as witness?"

Stephanie nodded.

Yakov got up and walked to the door, he paused with his hand on the knob:

"It is agreed. I will get the letters and bring them to you. We will get this business done tonight." He bowed. "Until later, Miss — Smith!"

Stephanie locked the door behind her, stood there thinking for a few minutes, then walked swiftly to the phone and dialed Charlie Reddy's home number. She waited impatiently for 10 rings, then slammed the phone back in its cradle and sank onto a chair.

Presently she strode across her bedroom to an old-fashioned oak desk, the flat top, kneehole type, which stood near the windows.

Stephanie yanked at the handle which opened the typewriter compartment and the machine rose to a working level. She reached into the hole where the typewriter had been and brought out a small steel box, which she unlocked with a key which had been cached in a hollow of her typewriter. Inside the case was the silver cameo box.

She began to pry at the cushion of the box. When the velvet pad came up, she studied the numbers engraved in the bottom of the box. The first set, 10 and 4, flashed a message. She remembered Hagar's suggestion about the twelve points surrounding a clock dial. She pressed down the fourth and tenth point of the cameo frame. The cameo flipped open to the pictures. With trembling hands she pressed the next set of numbers, 8 and 2.

Next, she pressed the number 6. Disappointed she studied the engraving. There was still the numeral 6. Idly she pressed the point on the frame which, on a clock dial, would correspond to 6.

Stephanie almost dropped the locket as the smooth gold back of the cameo snapped open like an old-fashioned watch and a small bit of paper fluttered to the floor!

Breathless with curiosity and apprehension, she stooped and picked it up. Her shaking fingers smoothed the folds open.

A few words of Russian script, precisely printed, met her eyes. Translating, she repeated the words aloud:

"The Cherry Orchard, gold and morocco binding. Dr. Otto Ulrich. St. Petersburg, College."

Stephanie shook her head — it was foolish! Why Dr. Ulrich? Any Russian school child would know that Chekov was the author of "The Cherry Orchard!"

She spent almost a half hour considering possibilities: Was this what Andrew Yakov was searching for? Was it a code? Was it of such importance that two people had been killed because of it?

And, most important, was Yakov the killer. She must tell Hagar.

She made her decision and left the house. After all, she told herself, the town's main street was only a couple of blocks down the hill.

Walking swiftly, her eyes straight ahead on the cheerful lights of town, she did not notice the unfamiliar swaying and bending of a narrow shadow that materialized several yards behind her.

The shadow disappeared and reappeared at intervals, always behind her and gradually lessening the distance.

Headlights coming up the hill threw their glare onto her red coat. It roared into a U-turn and came to a stop beside her.

"Going my way," asked a fine, stately voice.

Stephanie laughed in relief. "I am if you are going to the jail."

Charlie Reddy hopped out and held the door open: "Jail our destination, lady!"

As the car glided slowly down

DOROTHY DIX

Possessive Mother

Dear Miss Dix: Won't you emphasize the danger of mothers interfering too much with their children's lives and their happiness. My son, who is now 23, developed at 17 an infatuation for a girl near his own age. But because I wished to monopolize him I broke it off. Ever since he was a baby I had been despoiling him. The idea that I must always come first with him, my wishes must be law and my judgment unquestioned. Well, I broke off the affair after a terrible scene and it just seemed to wreck my boy. He lost interest in everything, neglected his studies, was in continual scrapes couldn't settle on anything he wanted to do. And only the other day he left me to go to a far country, saying: "Mother, when you made me give up Marion, you made me appear spineless to her. Now I am going away where I can regain some backbone. It is possible."

I cannot forgive myself for what I did to my son, and I wish to warn other mothers.

AN ENLIGHTENED MOTHER
Answer: Many another woman before you has lost her son through trying to hold him too tightly. Perhaps the hardest lesson that women ever have to learn is that the less they try to bind love, the more securely do they fetter it to them.

Has Best Intentions
Perhaps there is no other one

Hope: John Flowers, Hope; John R. T. Smith, Hope; L. W. McClellan, Hope; J. C. Gibson, Patmos.

Discharged: Mrs. Marion Clayton and baby girl, McNabb.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McClellan of Hope, announce the arrival of a baby girl on November 26.

person in the world who does more harm than the possessive mother, and the pity of it is that she wrecks her children's lives with the best intentions in the world and literally slays those for whom she would die herself. And it is selfishness that makes these possessive mothers never willing for their children to marry. They want to keep them for themselves. They always want to be first with their children. They can't endure the thought of their children caring more for their husbands and wives than they do for them.

These possessive mothers justify themselves in trying to dominate their children's lives by saying that mother knows best. But mother doesn't know best. No human being can know infallibly what is best for any other human being because each one of us has different talents, different tastes, different needs.

Many a man is a failure because his mother forced him into an occupation for which he was unfitted. Many a girl's life is blighted because her mother would not let her follow the career for which Nature intended her. It is a pity that mothers cannot understand that they have no right to their children's lives and that all that they have a right to do is to love them and sympathize with them and try to understand them and then leave them free to go their own way.

Dear Miss Dix: I am about to secure a position which will bring me in contact with a good many people, and I wish to know if personal appearance helps one to succeed. I am a man of 32, well educated, dress neatly, but I am very bald. Should I wear a toupee?

P. A.
Answer: Why not? It has always been a mystery to me why men do not consider it worth while to use the artifices in improving their appearance that women do. No one for an instant supposes that men, except by right of purchase, are making a mistake, and it is to be hoped that the time will come when every man will supplement nature with art and cover up his bald spot with artificial curls.

Dear Dorothy Dix: What is meant by violating one's friend ship?

A. B. C.
Answers: That phrase can have many interpretations. One is being disloyal or treacherous. Being a fairweather friend who makes loud professions of affection to one's face and stabs one in the back with ridicule. One who feasts with you in days of prosperity, but would not give you a crust of bread beyond all guessing. Maybe it is vanity that makes men think they are so handsome that their shiny pates are just a high light in the picture. Maybe they are afraid that other men will poke fun at them, but for any reason they are making a mistake, and it is to be hoped that the time will come when every man will supplement nature with art and cover up his bald spot with artificial curls.

Dear Dorothy Dix: What is meant by violating one's friend ship?

A. B. C.
Answers: That phrase can have many interpretations. One is being disloyal or treacherous. Being a fairweather friend who makes loud professions of affection to one's face and stabs one in the back with ridicule. One who feasts with you in days of prosperity, but would not give you a crust of bread if you were hungry. The kind of friend who leads the applause when all speak well of you, but who would be the first to talk away when people speak ill of you. Also, those violate friendship who tell things that a friend confides.

Ultramatic Drive

The last word in automatic, no-shift control!

"Way ahead in driving ease... because it's ahead in basic principles!"

Born of a 16-year Packard development program. Backed by seven million dollars' worth of new manufacturing facilities.

That's Packard Ultramatic Drive!

Come in—see for yourself why independent technical observers call it "the last word in automatic no-shift control!"

★ New simplicity: Naturally, there's no clutch pedal. And that's only the first hint of the convenience of Packard Ultramatic Drive! There's nothing new to learn. Just step on the gas, and steer!

★ New smoothness, new quietness. No jerking or "clunking," because there's no gear-shifting anywhere. No "racing engine" sensation, because there's no slippage at cruising speeds.

★ New economy: Ultramatic Drive saves gas—because there's no slippage at cruising speeds. And thanks to its advanced design, Packard Ultramatic Drive requires no complicated maintenance.

★ New safety: No chance of involuntary unexpected "down-shifts," which might cause a prolonged skid on slippery pavement. Packard Ultramatic Drive gives you smooth, gradual engine braking power for safe deceleration.

★ More responsive: No lag, at traffic speeds or highway speeds, waiting for gears to shift. For instant bursts of safety-sprint acceleration—just "tramp down."

★ More positive, more flexible: Your choice of high-range, or low-range operation. Easy shift from forward to reverse. Yes, you can rock the car in snow!

Come in now for your introductory drive!

Legion Cagers Ready for Season Opener

The Hope American Legion Basketball team has been organized under the direction of playing coaches Poney Reeves and Gilson Ross, with Bobby Porter as team and equipment manager and Harry Hawthorne as business manager.

Suited out in legion uniforms will be seven new-comers; R. E. Mohon, formerly of Emmet High school and Texaco Skychiefs; John Bullock of Hope; Bobcats; A. J. Rhodes of Blewins High school and Blewins Legion team; Cecil Kellum of Smackover High school and Ouachita college; Charles Mullen of Bodcaw High school and Bodcaw Independents; Clois Jackson of Corning High school and Hendrix college.

Returning for their third season on Legion team are Poney Reeves, Gilson Ross, Hollis Green and Raymond Byers. Two members of the team for the past two years were lost for the season in practice play. Doc Porter with a broken wrist and a broken bone in his foot.

The schedule for coming season will include the following teams: Okay Cementers, North Heights Independents, Blewins Legion, Hooks-Tex. V. F. W., Prescott Legion, Bradley Independents, Buchanan's, Independents of Texarkana, Texarkana Junior College and Independent teams from Quachita Henderson and Magnolia A & M.

About this time each year newspapers in Arkansas elect what they call an all-state team, although none ever actually indicate how they base their picks.

Actually the only official all-state team is picked by the Arkansas Athletic Association through the cooperation of players and coaches in the different districts. This selection will probably not be released until after the playoffs.

The Camden News lists an all-district team which finds John Watson and Wesley Huddleston on the first eleven; Burgess Garrett and Edsel Mix on the second and honorable mention to Gordon Beasley, Richard Bruner and Mitchell LaGrone.

The Arkansas Democrat places James Johnson on its all-star Class A-A eleven; Burgess Garrett and Wesley Huddleston on the second team, Odie Keith on the 3rd eleven and honorable mention to Gordon Beasley and Roger Neal.

How Smiley Bowled 'Em Over

Dropped into the bowling alleys the other night and there was little Smiley Roberts, who's built like a bird, showing the big fellows how to do it. He rolled an average of 191 for 5 games. That's bowling!

Later on, over a friendly glass of beer at Andy's Garden Tavern, I asked Smiley how he did it. "Practice, practice, and then some more practice," he said, "and I follow a regular set of training rules so I'll keep in good shape."

Then Andy chimed in. "To be really good at anything you've got to follow the rules. Take running the tavern. We tavern owners and the brewing industry have a Self-Regulation program we follow to see that places getting beer and ale are run right. When you follow the rules—you'll stay out ahead of the other fellow."

From where I sit, in sports or business it's important to "keep in shape." There are training rules and tavern rules—and they both pay off!
